

Kickoff football prediction app now available on Apple App Store and Google Play Store

SINGAPORE – 1 May 2019 – Now out of beta, Kickoff is available for iOS and Android. The app lets users predict scores and show off their football knowledge. Players compete with their friends and colleagues, one-on-one or in groups. Kickoff is built by user experience specialists, passionate about football. It clearly stands out from traditional score prediction apps through its simple, social and mobile first design.

Users compete in Leagues, season-long prediction communities, and in Challenges, one-off bets. They play for stakes or just to claim bragging rights. With its no-frills design, Kickoff is proof that score prediction doesn't have to be a cumbersome spreadsheet-like chore anymore.

The app's intuitive user experience extends familiar and simple messenger design patterns, native on iOS and Android. Millions of people worldwide play score prediction games and fantasy sports online. Kickoff currently supports Premier League, Bundesliga, Primera División, Serie A, Ligue 1, Champions League, with many more competitions to be added soon.

About Kickoff

Kickoff, a ZNET Labs Pte. Ltd. venture, aims to unite fans, clubs and other brands passionate about sports through the world's best score prediction and social gaming experience. ZNET was founded by twin brothers Ben and Dan, combining 30 years' experience in software and consulting at Google, Atlassian, Accenture and own startups. Previous successes include Good News, your personal news stream, featured on TIME Magazine's Best Websites list. The bootstrapped Singapore-based company is open to partnerships and additional funding. Visit <https://kickoff.fans> for more information.

Media contact

press@znet.company